

Our Little Picassos

The world wide neo normal might have taken away many things from us but at the same time it taught us when and where to stop. It taught us how to make safe and secure movements. It also taught us how to take care of our own selves. It limited our spaces, comfort zones but at the same time it has thrown a challenge towards us. We learnt new technology and its applications. We started thinking beyond possibilities. No doubt it enhanced our creativity and we made impossible things to be possible. It limits our classrooms within the four walls of our home, sets us apart from our students, near and dear ones but at the same time teaches how to nourish the relations and stay connected with everybody. I agree it was not a bed of roses but we crossed the hurdles with the unconditional support from our valued parents and the management to whom I will always be thankful. Once again I extend my vote of thanks to the parents for their cooperation.

Regards,

Ms. Mridula Mukhopadhyay

WHEN I LOST MY MILK TOOTH

Ms. Shyamasree Basu

Deciduous teeth, more commonly known as milk or baby teeth, are the first set of teeth that develop in children. Children generally lose their first baby tooth when they're about six years old. This gradual process is probably one of the first biological change in their own body. The emotions that accompany this milestone are extremely varied, ranging from joy at having finally joined the world of grown-ups to fear about the loss of a body part. The most commonly practiced ritual—recorded from Mexico to Russia to New Zealand—was to offer the lost milk tooth as a sacrifice to a mouse into a hole with the hope that the child's adult teeth would be as strong as the rodent's. Children today are practical enough and don't go out to look for mouse holes and after the fall of one or two teeth they become quite accustomed to the phenomena. But they have their own feelings and opinions on this topic. Here we are with some fascinating experiences of the little ones of Class 1.

I cried a lot when I lost my milk tooth. My mamma told me that tooth fairy will give me new tooth. I put my tooth under my pillow. The tooth fairy came, took my tooth and put toffee under my pillow.

MANNAT MALHOTRA

SATKRITI JHA

While playing in the park, I fell down and felt pain in my milktooth. My milktooth was in my hand. I was very sad. I put my milktooth under the soil in the park and prayed to God, so that I don't lose my another tooth.

When I was 5 years old, I lost my first milk tooth. I was very sad because I was not looking good. My father called me khudda all the time. Now I have 4 permanent teeth in front. My smile is cute, so I am very happy.

KRISHAANA KAUSHIK

One day in the daytime I was having my lunch and suddenly one of my teeth broke. My mom asked me to wash my mouth with cold water. I was surprised to see myself in the mirror and I was feeling sad about my lost tooth. My mom told me to keep the broken tooth under the pillow. In return a new tooth would come in a few weeks.

I was really scared when my first tooth broke. I got sugar from Mumma to calm me down. Mumma told me the story of Tooth fairy to relax me. Next morning, Mumma gave me a story book. I was happy to get a gift.

WHEN I LOST MY MILK TOOTH

One day when it was about to rain, I felt something awful in my mouth! Well it was paining! Suddenly my tooth came out and it made me shout. Mamma told me that the pain is not going to stay. New tooth will come out in few days. I was happy on hearing this.

I was eating a chocolate when I lost my first milk tooth. I was sad but my mother told me not to worry as it is a sign of new beginning. She also told me that it happened with everyone in the family-- grandparents, mother and father and very soon with my younger sister. Few days later I saw a new tooth growing and it was fun to rub my tongue on it to check how much it had grown.

Losing my milk tooth was a painful yet funny feeling as I could feel a window in my jaw through which cool air could move in and out and made me feel relaxed. It was like a magic to me as I could pop out my tongue.

When I was six years old, my milk tooth fell. I started crying bitterly. Just then, my mom gave me a tight hug and a sweet smile. She told me that soon there will be a magic in my mouth. After few days my new tooth started coming out and I became very happy.

When I lost my first milk tooth, I was afraid that how will I eat food and chocolates. I had kept my broken milk tooth under my pillow. But I was very excited the next morning. At night the tooth fairy had come and took my milk tooth and left a gift for me.

IF I WERE A .....

Einstein said, "Imagination is more important than knowledge." Imagination is the door to possibilities. Every day kids experience events that are new to them. In doing so, these new experiences help them to develop a creative and curious mind. Writing can help develop numerous physical skills. Not only does it help to improve hand-eye coordination, but it also strengthens muscles that can be used for everyday tasks. Inspiring our children to be creative helps them to develop into powerful adults, who can communicate their point of view, thoughts, and feelings very clearly. St Teresa School has always promoted all round personality development of children in which creativity is a key aspect. In addition to academic endeavors the school fosters creativity in children which helps in building their communication skills, improve their cognitive abilities and promote their emotional development. Keeping this in mind the school encouraged the children to engage their little minds in exploring and giving their own views on this topic and here we have our budding writers on their flight of imagination.
